PERSONAL INFORMATION AND THE PRIVACY ACT (1993)

St Peter's College collects and keeps a large amount of personal information about each student. The Privacy Act 1993 protects the information you give the College and details conditions under which personal information can be obtained, used, stored and exchanged with other interested parties. The College considers the privacy of this information to be important and has policies and procedures which reflect the Twelve Privacy Principles as set out in the Act to protect this information.

The College collects personal information from its students so that they can be enrolled at the College, have their attendance and progress recorded, be entered for examinations, or be contacted by the College. The College also collects information about the caregivers of the students so that they may be informed of student progress, or contacted by the College, and because the safety of the student is important.

Personal information may be disclosed to other education agencies, such as the Ministry of Education and the New Zealand Qualifications Authority; and to Government agencies such as the New Zealand Police if they demonstrate a statutory right to obtain it. Personal information may be retained by the College after the student leaves in order for the College to maintain a list of past students. Personal information may also be disclosed to The Foundation Trust and the Parent Teacher Association to assist in compiling its membership register.

Under the Privacy Act 1993 you have the right of access to all personal information held by the College about you. You also have the right to ask the College to correct any information held which is inaccurate. You can exercise the right by applying to the College.

You also have an obligation to advise the College if/when any of the personal information you have provided changes.

If for any reason your enrolment is not accepted, this enrolment form will be destroyed.
